

Arrowhead

Arrowhead is a common aquatic plant in Missouri and can be a problematic weed in rice production.

Foliage. Leaves are attached on long, erect petioles and are deeply cut forming a cleft where the petioles join the underside of the leaves.

Life cycle: perennial.