

Broadleaf Signalgrass

Collar region. The ligule is a small ring of hairs. The leaf margins are lined with hairs and the sheath has scattered hairs. Broadleaf signalgrass is most commonly found in southeast Missouri where it is problematic in agronomic production.

Life cycle: summer annual.